THERE'S a journalistic genius in McClave, Colo. He is Lewis Lubers, 13, editor of the McClave grade school paper. When the annual exercises were held this month Editor Lubers wrote a front-page "banner" like this:

And yet there's a future in newspaper work for any lad of 13 who can size up his country's problem and combine tragedy and humor in a single line, as Editor Lubers did.

County-Wide Farm Meet to Be Held in Hope Saturday

Waldo Frazier of State Bureau to Be Principal Speaker

MEET AT CITY HALL

Farm Leaders of the Surrounding Counties Urged to Attend

A county-wide meeting of all farm organization members will be held at Hope city hall Saturday, June 15, at 1:45 p. m.

Waldo Frazier, executive secretary of Arkansas Farm Bureau Federation will give the principal address. Mr. Frazier will bring out pending legislation at the present time for the benefit of farmers for this area.

L. C. Baber, district county agent for southwest Arkansas, and J. F. Rains, Arkansas Extension Agronomist will also have a part on the program. County farm bureau presidents, county agents, and other farm leaders from Nevada, Lafayette, Miller, Little River, Howard and Pike counties have been invited.

A fine delegation of farmers from each of the counties are expected to attend. One of the main points of this program will be to determine just how the present farm program could be amended to better fit the needs of the farmers in this area. All members of the county farm bureau have been invited and will be given out at the meeting.

It is necessary for all sales receipts for cotton for 1937 and also all the cotton that was placed in the government loan in 1937 to be filed at the county agent's office immediately. If farmers bring their loan papers and any cotton receipts they have to the county agent's office Saturday, they will be in a position to file them at that time. This is necessary since cotton placed in the loan will now be considered as sold and the producer will be allowed to collect 3 cents subsidy for this cotton.

Nazi Regime Brings Mermans More Babies

BERLIN.—(AP)—Germany can boast of more marriages and more babies since the advent of the National Socialist regime.

The number of marriages rose from 517,000 in 1932 to 626,000 in 1937, while in the last five years 460,000 more couples were married than in the five years before the Nazis came to power. Up to the end of 1937, 878,000 marriages were paid by the state.

The birth rate rose from 971,000 in 1933 to 1,276,000 in 1937.

Sino-Japanese War Halts Weaving Industry

NANKING, China.—(AP)—Weaving of the famous Nanking tapestries is another ancient Chinese home industry which has ceased to exist since the Sino-Japanese war started.

The war, however, is not entirely to blame. The industry, because of competition with machine-made products, was fast facing extinction before hostilities started last year. The Japanese invasion hastened the process.

Wage-Hour Bill Past Both Houses—to F. D. R. for Signature

Congress Divided Over the Question of Bill's Constitutionality

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—The senate approved the compromise flood control bill Wednesday, clearing away one major obstacle to adjournment Wednesday night.

The vote was 51 to 32.

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Senator O'Mahoney, Wyoming Democrat, resumed a talking marathon on the 375-million-dollar flood control bill Wednesday.

His determination, and that of some of his colleagues, to force changes in the measure threatened to delay congressional adjournment beyond Wednesday night.

Senator Majority Leader Barkley, asked when adjournment might be reached, would say only:

"Wait and see."

O'Mahoney said he is "not concerned with a filibuster" against the bill but asserted he did not know how much longer the speech-making might continue. His attack was on provisions which he claimed would abrogate state's rights.

Wage Bill Completed Although only President Roosevelt's signature was needed Wednesday to start the wage-hour program for the regulation of industrial hours and minimum pay, backers of the bill pondered the possibilities that the law would encounter a constitutional test in the courts.

During the final senate debate before passage of the legislation Tuesday senators were divided on the constitutionality of the bill.

Differences of opinion were expressed on the interstate commerce clauses of the law, on which the major effects of the bill hinge.

Lewis Foils John L. Lewis, CIO chairman, made an apparently futile demand on the house leadership Wednesday for consideration of another labor bill which the house rules committee pigeonholed Tuesday.

The labor leader said after a conference with Speaker Bankhead that apparently no action would be taken on the house floor Wednesday to suspend the rules and consider the legislation.

The wage-hour bill received final congressional approval Tuesday and congress, thinking of home, and campaign worries, hustled toward adjournment. Most informed legislators said the session would end Wednesday. The house approved the bill, 290 to 89. It was passed in the senate without a record vote.

Bill Uncertain One uncertainty as to adjournment remained and that was railroad legislation—a bill to help the carriers by liberalizing R. F. C. loan requirements, and a measure establishing an unemployment insurance system for the railroad workers. Some labor leaders were holding out for the loan bill and the house leadership was reported opposed to it. Yet agitation for passage continued.

At a press conference, president Roosevelt said that if congress could pass any railroad legislation before adjournment, it would be helpful. Otherwise, only the adoption by the senate of a compromise conference report on the $3,753,000,000 lending-spending bill, approval of the second efficiency bill, house action on the investigation of monopolistic practices asked by President Roosevelt, senate action on a proposed investigation of politics in relief, and minor issues remained to be considered.

Representative D. D. Terry, Little Rock, was the only one of Arkansas' six congressmen voting for the wage-hour bill. Representatives Cravens, Driver, Fuller, Kitchens and McClellan voted against the measure.

Thompson Still in Critical Condition—Prosecutor May Take Action

Physicians at Julia Chester hospital said Wednesday that O. V. Thompson, 23, injured in a highway accident Monday night in which Carl Hamilton of Emmet was killed, was showing signs of improvement.

His condition Wednesday was described as "semi-conscious." Thompson is suffering from a severe brain injury, a broken leg and minor lacerations.

Deputy Prosecuting Attorney W. S. Atkins announced Wednesday that he had taken several statements in connection with the accident, but had filed no charges.

Mr. Atkins said the investigation would continue further before the filing of official charges.

Conflicting tales were told as to the cause of the accident in which one person was killed and five others injured.

Third Power Dam on Ouachita River

A. P. & L. Building One Three Times Larger Than Others

PINE BLUFF, Ark.—Presidential approval of the omnibus flood control bill will be the signal for the Arkansas Power & Light Co. to begin construction of a $6,000,000 combination flood control and power dam on the Ouachita river at Blakely mountain 14 miles northwest of Hot Springs.

This news was received at the general offices of the Arkansas Power and Light Company Tuesday from Harvey C. Couch, president of the company, who is in Washington, where a joint senate and house conference committee approved the bill Monday night.

Included in the measure is a provision for the United States army engineers to participate up to $2,000,000 in the construction of the upper 30 feet of the dam for flood control purposes. The total height of the dam will be between 150 and 170 feet. The exact height will be decided on immediately after approval of the bill. The power company will pay for the lower part of the dam, for the dam site, and the immense reservoir space that will be required.

This will be the first instance in which the government has participated jointly with a private utility in providing flood control. Some authorities see in the joint participation a possible precedent of co-operation between the government and private industry that may result in negotiations for other construction projects that will aid recovery.

C. S. Lynch chief engineer of the Arkansas Power and Light Company will have charge of the construction of the dam. He had charge of construction of the first two dams.

The power portion of the dam will flood some 500,000 acre-feet of ground, and the flood control portion will flood another 500,000 acre-feet. Between 25,000 and 35,000 acres will be covered by the huge lake that will be formed by the dam. This lake will be three times as large as Lake Catherine, formed by Remmel dam, and Hamilton, formed by Carpenter dam.

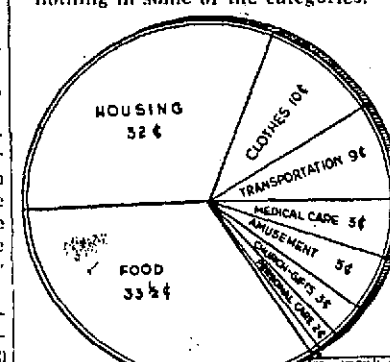

Exact type of construction of the dam has not been decided on, but it will be built to provide for installation of generating equipment that will ultimately produce from 25,000 to 40,000 kilowatt hours of electricity.

How Typical American Family Fares Under Wage-Hour Bill

25c on Hour or $500 a Year	40c on Hour or $800 a Year
AVERAGE FAMILY FOOD	HOUSING
$166 a year. (That is $3.10 a week, or less than 4c a meal for each person.)	$240 a year. (That is $4.50 a week, or between 5 and 6c a meal for each person.)
$160 a year. (That's $3 a month for rent, light, fuel, water, gas, etc.)	$80 a year. (That's $1.50 a month you might find a landlord who would be interested.)
$50 a year. (That's $12.50 for each person, including shoes, suits, dresses, underclothing.)	$80 a year. (That's $1.50 a month you might find a landlord who would be interested.)
$25 a year. (Let's say $10 for the doctor, $5 for the dentist, the rest for drugs.)	$40 a year. (Per-haps $15 for the doctor, $10 for the dentist, the rest for drugs.)
$25 a year. (It costs our family of four about a dollar just to go to the movies.)	$40 a year. (A dollar a week almost every week.)
$45 a year. (Nickel street car for dad alone, twice a day, is $26.)	$72 a year. (You might be able to run some kind of a car on $1.38 a week.)
$15 a year. (A quarter in the collection plate every Sunday.)	$24 a year. (Not a very good prospect for the Community Fund.)
$10 a year. (Beauty and barber shops find slim pickings here.)	$16 a year. (The wife might work in one permanent.)
$2.50 a year. (This won't even buy a newspaper.)	$4 a year. (Johnny can't have those piano lessons.)

If minimum-pay workers were able to spend in the same proportion as average-pay workers, rates provided by the proposed wage-hour law would enable them to live as in the chart above. As a matter of fact, it will readily be seen that the $500 or even the $800-a-year family can spend nothing in some of the categories.

Each dollar of income—if you are average wage-earner in an average family—will divide up like the pie-cut dollar above, according to government statistics.

By WILLIS THORNTON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

Congressional debate on the wage-hour bill has stormed furiously around the hourly rate of minimum pay that would be used to "put a floor under wages."

Strong objection has been made to any plan that would eventually raise minimum wages as high as 40 cents an hour. Twenty-five cents an hour is the current proposal, raising gradually to 40.

Debate on the economics of the question is long and loud. But what, precisely, do wages like that mean to the man who gets them? What kind of a standard of living is implied by them, and what must be the standards today of those whom it is proposed to raise to 25 cents an hour? WPA rates, by the way, are around 60 cents.

It is all very clear and simple. At 25 cents an hour, assuming a 40-hour week, the wage-earner takes in just $10 a week. At 40 cents, this becomes $16. Assuming, again, year-round work, the 25-cent-an-hour man earns $520 in a year; his more fortunate colleague earns $832.

It's Simple Arithmetic Do your own figuring on a basis of $500 and $800, since 52 weeks of straight work is practically unknown among people drawing that kind of money.

A careful study of what becomes of the workman's dollar was recently made by several government bureaus. They found what average families with incomes of between $1200 and $1500 a year do with their money.

Elbert Wilson of Prescott Seized on Arson Charge

OVER 100 BURNED

Wholesale Loss of Cars and Trucks in This Region Is Cited

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—State Fire Marshal Guy E. Williams, announcing the arrest Wednesday of a man described as Elbert Wilson, Prescott, on an arson charge, asserted more than 100 used cars and trucks had been burned in Hope, Prescott and Nashville territories of southwest Arkansas during the past year.

Williams said the man arrested Wednesday admitted burning his 1937 model truck on the Blevins highway near Prescott March 13. Williams said Wilson gave as his reason his inability to pay a balance of $205 due on the purchase price.

Sheriff Brad Bright of Prescott released Wilson under $500 bond pending a hearing.

Commenting on the burning of motor vehicles in southwest Arkansas, Williams said:

"So many have been burned that it is difficult to obtain insurance in that territory."

If necessary, Williams said he would ask the governor to assign additional investigators to assist in the work of checking all fires. He said he would give immediate attention to this type of loss in southwest Arkansas.

Threats in Mail Disturb Lindbergh

French Police Give Protection to Flier on Lonely Island

ST. BRIEUC, France.—(AP)—French gendarmes Tuesday patrolled the northern tip of the Breton coast guarding Charles A. Lindbergh's island refuge after the famous flier received what police described as new menacing letters from America.

Lindbergh, his wife and two small sons are guests at the St. Gilda's Island home of Dr. Alexis Carrel, the American scientist with whom Lindbergh has collaborated in scientific research. They plan to stay there until work on their newly purchased Illce Island home nearby is completed.

News of the Lindberghs' arrival in Brittany from the Kent farmhouse they occupied two years and a half in England brought new public attention to the family in exile.

Since they came a week ago police said Lindbergh had received letters from persons believing Bruno Hauptmann innocent of the kidnap-killing of Lindbergh's first son March 1, 1932. The writers, holding Lindbergh partly responsible for Hauptmann's execution April 3, 1936, were said to have made no direct threats, but the letters had an injurious tone.

How Typical

year were spending for various things. Then they reduced the data to a percentage showing that of every dollar, 33 1/2 cents went for rent, and so on.

Applying those same percentages to incomes of $500 and $800 will show how families benefit by the proposed act would live. The accompanying table shows what they would have for various things necessary to civilized living if they spent their income in about the same way as those families with average incomes.

But they wouldn't, of course. For those averages were compiled from average incomes. That means between $1200 and $1500 a year. Incomes of $500 and $800 are not spent in quite the same way.

Families with an income of $500 a year must spend more than the average percentage of their income for food. Meals may cost them perhaps 10 cents apiece instead of the 3, 4, or 5 cents which would be their proportionate cost based on the average budget.

At that rate, food for the year for the $500 man would cost $436.80 instead of $166, which would practically wipe out the entire income, let alone anything for such luxuries as medical care, clothing, and education.

For Under Average

Somewhere between these figures the $500 man compromises in order to have a place to live and something to wear.

The average wage-earner brings in between $100 and $125 a month, the same government survey showed. Thus at $13 a calendar month for the 25-cents-an-hour man, or even at $69 a month for the 40-cents-an-hour man, the beneficiaries of the "floor-under-wages" law would still be far under the averages.

What to Write When Invited to Wedding

By JOAN DURHAM AP Feature Service Writer

Are you puzzled over answering wedding invitations?

There are four types of invitations in general use, besides the wedding announcement, sent out after the ceremony.

First is the church invitation, merely an invitation to attend the ceremony. It does not mean that you are invited to a reception, or a breakfast. You do not have to answer a church invitation, unless it is a personally written note to a small wedding. You do not have to send a gift, although there are circumstances under which you may want to.

Second is the reception or breakfast invitation. That must be answered. It calls for a gift, too. The reception invitation generally is engraved on a smaller sheet of note paper and enclosed with the wedding invitation. There probably will be an "R.s.v.p." in the lower left-hand corner.

Third is the home wedding invitation. You must answer that, since it implies automatically that you are to stay on for festivities after the ceremony. You also must send a gift.

Last is the invitation to the reception only. Occasionally there are conditions under which the wedding is performed before a small group, especially when there is an invalid in the family. The bride and bridegroom then meet their family and friends at a reception after the ceremony. You always should answer such invitations—and send gifts.

A marriage announcement never is sent to those invited to the wedding. It does not require a gift.

Who may attend the wedding? Only those who names appear on the invitation. It generally is considered proper to send a separate invitation to each grown member of a family.

In answering your invitation the wording should be:

Mr. and Mrs. James Social accept with pleasure Mr. and Mrs. Marquis Bigname's kind invitation for Friday the first of July.

There are five lines in the answer. The words should be spaced as shown above.

Would you please mail it to me 262 Senate Office Building here (Washington). I also left a white night gown in the room. If your maid picked it up would you send it also. Old fashioned night gowns are such a rarity in the pajama days that the loss is more serious than the intrinsic value. I suppose I am one of the few left who cling to this old-fashioned luxury, but since I wear pants all day, I like a change at night."

A.A.U. Puts Official Stamp on Softball's Status; Expect 100 Teams in Playoffs for National Title

Last of three stories on softball, most popular summer sport.

By JERRY BRONFIELD
NEA Service Sports Writer

If you don't believe that softball has a real following drop into Chicago late this summer when crack teams from all over the United States will compete at Soldiers' Field for the national championship in both the men and women's divisions.

In all probability you will be one of 25,000 or more, who will be on hand to witness the final games, played under brilliant flood lights at night. The first national meet, staged in 1933 as a World Fair feature, attracted 20 teams—12 men, and 8 women's clubs. For the most part they were from towns close to Chicago and were present by invitation.

Out of that meager beginning grew the Amateur Softball Association of America, recognized today by the National A. A. U. as the governing body of the sport.

The A. A. U. is now established in all 48 states, with each having a commission working in cooperation with the central body and an advisory committee.

President and chairman of the board of governors is Leo Fischer, Chicago sports writer, one of the leaders in the national softball movement.

Each state is set up in districts, giving rise to a series of playoffs which determines the sectional qualifiers for the national championship.

Hundred Teams Campaign for National Softball Titles

Approximately 100 teams and 2500 athletes seek the titles being defended this year by the Briggs Body club of Detroit, men's champions, and the National Screw and Manufacturing girls' team of Cleveland, which has ruled the feminine list for two straight years.

Stars of the softball world enjoy great reputations even as do the big names of the major baseball leagues, with the pitchers, especially, grabbing more than their share of the glory.

Regarded as tops among hurlers nationally is Ed Figselski of the Briggs Body national title. His presence makes the Motor City entrant a good bet for two straight.

Ranking close behind Figselski are Frankie Brunner of the Cleveland Weaver Walls and Kay Strominski of the South Bend Bendix Brakes. Also included in the top flight are Earl Flamme and Wild Bill Pecknick of the St. Joseph, Mich., Auto Specialties, and Fred Konrad of the Cleveland Chase Brass club.

Pecknick is the southpaw who won the 1934 national title for the Ke-nash-a Blue Streaks of Kenosha. He was suspended on the eve of the 1935 national for using an assumed name during the season while hurdling for the outfit. He was barred for three years, but officials reconsidered, and reinstated him at the outset of the 1936 campaign, when he joined the Waterloo, Ia., club. He spent the last half of the 1935 season at Madison, Wis.

Stars are Employed by Companies They Represent

Joining the St. Joseph, Mich., Auto Specialties in 1937, Pecknick won 31 while losing two games. He pitched 254 1/3 innings, faced 929 batters, allowed 29 runs, 87 hits, and struck out 395 and walked 80. His pitching averages per game were .38 runs, 2.6 hits, 12 strikeouts, and 2.4 bases on balls. This gives you an idea of what a first rate pitcher does in Grade A softball competition.

The St. Joseph, Mich., Auto Specialties won 67 games and lost six. They were repulsed in the national semifinals by the ultimate champion, Briggs Body, 2-1, in 12 innings.

The club is intact this season, with no soft touches on the schedule. It has looked championship teams of Wisconsin, Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, Michigan, and California. It has bagged the Michigan title for four consecutive seasons.

In nearly every instance, luminaries are employed by the companies for whom teams they play.

Rated high among the feminine stars are Mary Skorchik and Vera Tinning of Cleveland, Louise Miller of the Phoenix, Ariz., Runblers, and Bernice Soren of the Detroit Rays.

The world series of softball is becoming one of the more colorful events on the sports calendar... getting bigger and better every year.

Pine Bluff Grid Stars to State University

PINE BLUFF.—Guy Boyd and Ogden Bates, members of the championship 1938 Zebra football team of Pine Bluff High School, plan to attend the University of Arkansas next fall, they reported here Tuesday.

Boyd was an all-state football center last fall and all-state guard in basketball this year. Bates was an all-state man while in junior high school and was given an all-state senior halfback position last fall. Jay W. Dickey is president of the Pine Bluff University Booster Club.

NASHVILLE, Ark.—Clell Burnett of Brinkley, Ark., Tuesday had been named athletic coach of Nashville high school.

Burnett is a graduate of the State Teachers College at Conway. He has been coaching at Brinkley high school for three years.

Nitro Is a Bad Actor, Rifleman Finds

HELENA, Mont.—(AP)—The police weren't quite so nonchalant as their burglar-prisoner had been with his nitroglycerin.

When he was arrested after he blew open a drug store safe he carried an ounce bottle of the explosive in his hip pocket.

Gingerly taking it from him, the police explosive experts packed the bottle in a bucket of snow and carried it to an isolated hillside. There the bottle was removed and placed on an old rusted stove as a target for Patrolman Ongvald Young, expert rifleman.

Young retired as far as the range of his rifle would permit and then fired one shot.

"It appeared as though about half the hillside blew up," Young said. "The mountain shook. Try as we might, we were unable to find one piece of that stove that we could identify as such."

Explosive experts said the heat from the burglar's body was sufficient to have set off the nitroglycerin.

Western Atmosphere

HELENA, Mont.—(AP)—Helena, capital of Montana, outgrew cowboy attire so long ago the chamber of commerce believes its residents may have forgotten how to wear ten gallon hats.

So two weeks before the convention of the Montana Stockgrowers' convention the citizens will don boots and sum-breesies and wear them daily until the meeting "just to create a free and easy western atmosphere" in which the cowmen will feel at home.

A GAME GUY WITH A GREAT GAME

The PAYOFF

By HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor, NEA Service

An interesting message from Ancil Hoffman, the pigeon-chested, pigeon-toed little California fruit grower who runs Maxie Adelbert Baer.

"Baer is working in a picture in Hollywood which will be finished June 15. Mike Jacobs notifies us to be in New York for the Louis-Schmeling fight, June 22, also for a meeting of the boxing commission the day following.

"Jacobs is anxious to complete arrangements for Baer to meet the winner in late September.

"Louis and Schmeling agreed to tackle Baer this fall when they signed for their return bout, and the main object now is to have Schmeling assure the commission that he will return for the Baer match should he regain the title.

"Baer is his old self once more. He can fight as well as ever as he proved in beating Tommy Farr in March. His wife and baby brought about the change. The baby is out of the hospital... fully recovered from his recent serious illness.

"Following our visit in New York,

Baer will make a refereeing tour: before hardening up at Lake Tahoe. "Then he'll pitch camp near New York, and win the championship again just as sure as the sun shines in California."

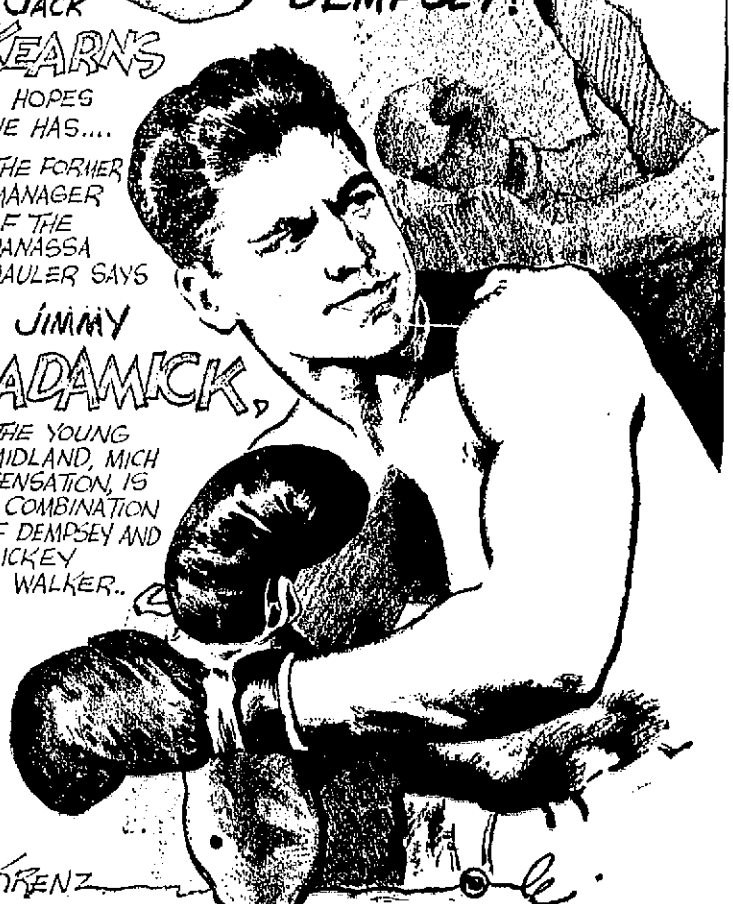

Twentieth Century Club Fails For 'House' Fighter

Wily Mike Jacobs is keeping Baer in cold storage. The old Broadway ticket scalper isn't the kind to be left without a kicker.

Ever since Baer was repelled by Jim Braddock and knocked out by Louis, Jacobs has latched to put his ballyhoo bureau on a first-class job of selling the customers on the possibility that the erstwhile Butterfly Butcher Boy had two off nights a few weeks apart in 1935.

Baer's fine comeback against Farr gave Jacobs his excuse, and an opportunity for a second world championship contest in 1938. And with a half dozen outdoor attractions required to fill his dates at the New York ball parks and the Garden Bowl, Uncle Mike doesn't need cards any worse than Bill Terry needs a second base man.

While he doesn't say as much, Jacobs' fear is the same as that of Hoffman—that Schmeling will not return for a fall engagement in the event that he once more repulses Louis.

And if the German loses to the Brown Bomber, nobody will want him. Louis, the "house" fighter, will be available for Baer... win, lose or draw with Schmeling.

You'll never know how those interested in the Twentieth Century Sporting club are pulling for the Alabama-born negro.

Schmeling Insists That He'll Be Back For More

Schmeling tells the boys not to worry, however.

"I'd be a rank sucker for not coming back," says Herr Moxie, in his Teutonic guttural. "I'm getting only 20 per cent for fighting Louis. I'll get 42 1/2 per cent for Baer in September, and an under contract to Mike Jacobs until September, 1939."

Adding to the attractiveness of another Schmeling-Baer battle would be the fact that the Livermore Larruper dealt the Feroocious Frankfurter his only knockout in this country... in 10 rounds on a hot June night in 1933.

Schmeling really may want to even that score. Again he may not. Fighters are funny that way.

And Schmeling's burning ambition is to regain the championship, retire with it, and strut in the Fatherland. He is crowding 33.

What I get out of the situation is that everybody's concern in regard to Schmeling's return may be the tipoff on the result of the second edition between the Pretzel Bender and Louis.

And also that Baer, dismissed as a hopeless clown three years ago, may have the last laugh.

Ray Starr Bests Wayman Kerkisek in Tight Pitching Duel

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—Ray Starr, veteran Nashville right-hander, allowed Little Rock only two singles, one of them a scratch blow, to best Wayman Kerkisek, in a 2-1 pitching duel Tuesday night. All of the runs came in the first inning and were unearned.

The victory enabled Nashville to split the four-game series with the league leading Little Rock Travelers who ended their home stay with 10 wins to five defeats. They move to New Orleans Wednesday night to open a 15-game road trip.

Tribe Bests Smokies

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—(AP)—The Memphis Chickadees closed a three-game series with Knoxville here Tuesday night by defeating the Smokies 7-3. It was the Chickadees second win of the series.

Carl Doyle, speedball ace of the Tribe, got himself into trouble several times in the early innings but tightened up in the "clutch" moments. Frank Veverke relieved Doyle in the seventh to stem the final Knoxville rally.

Outfielder Buddy Bales paced the Chick attack with three hits in four times at bat.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—(AP)—Henry Johnson weakened in the ninth inning Tuesday night to allow the Chattanooga Lookouts to push across four runs and win the final contest of a four game series with the Barons 4 to 2.

Poor fielding by the Barons aided the invaders, who had dropped the three previous games here.

Pels Take Crax

NEW ORLEANS.—(AP)—The New Orleans Pelicans captured a bitter 12-inning game from the second-place Atlanta Crackers Tuesday night, 5 to 4, behind the brilliant relief hurling of Tom Drake.

Joe Dobson, who started for the Pels, was blasted out in the first inning without so much as getting a batter out. Drake relieved him and hurled three-hit ball the rest of the way.

The Pels sent Sunkel, starting Cracker hurler, to the showers in the seventh frame and scored the winning run off Beckman, his successor.

NEW YORK.—Wilmer Allison and Johnny Hennessey, former stars of the tennis world, will attempt a comeback, June 18-26 in the National Clay Courts Championships at River Forest.

Hennessey ranked No. 4 and Allison No. 5 in national singles listings 10 years ago. The former retired from tournament competition soon afterwards, but Allison waited until he had gained No. 1 ranking in 1934-35.

Hennessey, teamed with George Lott, won the national doubles title in 1928, with Allison gaining the same honor paired with Johnny Van Ryn in 1935.

Who Is The GROOM?

Story of 'The Town That Came Back'

By NEA Service
DUNDEE, Mich.—Years of sleepy standstill and slow decline are all forgotten as Dundee bustles in the throes of a rebirth.

For years Dundee was a good small town. But it was off the beaten track, and it began to decline as its young people left for greater pastures. Then, in 1935, Henry Ford came along. Ford likes and understands small towns. He saw a century-old grist mill rotting away on the banks of the Raisin river. He saw shabby houses, with the decline of another of these small village communities that have meant so much to America.

He decided to add Dundee to the string of "village industries" with which he is beginning to dot central Michigan, to give to a place in the great production machine that focuses at the River Rouge outside Detroit.

New Equipment and New Jobs
The old grist mill was bought and entirely rebuilt, only the venerable timbers serving the new use. The mill-dam was rebuilt, and a turbine generator was installed to replace the ancient mill-wheel, so that the new plant as well as the old would draw its power from the stream. Electric furnaces were set up and equipment and machinery set up for casting and machining hard copper.

The resulting parts were destined to a hundred uses in the products of the Ford plants, mostly for electrodes used in welding.

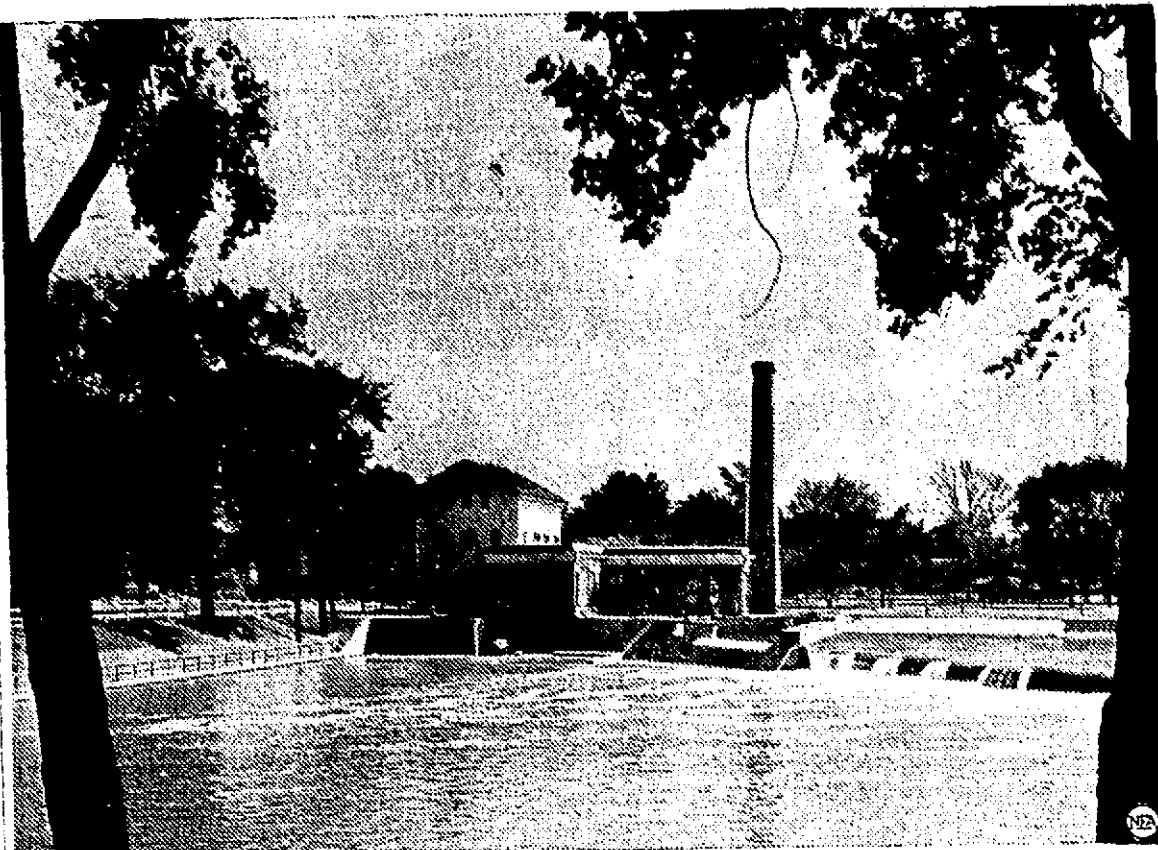

Eighty men of Dundee or close to its limits were hired for the new plant. A classroom was arranged to teach the blueprint-reading and shop mathematics necessary to the work. Most of the men were high school graduates, but some brushing-up was found advisable. With one or two exceptions, all 80 are still there at minimum daily pay of $8. That has meant a weekly payroll above $2400 for Dundee. It has transformed the town.

Relief Work Goes Begging
The tumbling-down houses have been rebuilt or repaired. Several thriving new stores have been built, and all the old ones are doing well. The streets are clean and busy. There isn't a single able-bodied man within the village limits on relief. Even the workers on a local WPA project have to be brought in from nearby villages, or the countryside.

Mayor Frank Wilcox, who operates a successful hatchery, has watched the whole transformation.

"The plant is the best thing that ever happened to this town," he said. "Our relief problem disappeared as soon as the plant got going, and all lines of business perked up. I guess nobody is getting rich, but everybody lives pretty comfortably."

But It's Same Old Town
The only "outsider" in the plant is Dick Lutz, manager, and he has already become so "localized" that he is president of the local Exchange club. Nearly all the wives belong to the Tuesday club and have an active interest in civic affairs.

The welding electrodes are shipped from Dundee to Ford plants all over the world, and when demand slackens for them, Lutz goes to Detroit and finds some other brass or bronze parts that can be made in the Dundee plant. It is 50 truck miles from Dundee to the Rouge. The copper used at Dundee and converted into copper-alloy electrodes is salvaged from another Ford "village industry," the generator factory at Ypsilanti. The scrap is carried to Dundee, melted, alloyed and processed.

People of Dundee stress that the village has not become a "factory town" by advent of the new industry, but remains the same quiet, friendly village, with the same people it had formerly.

Sweet Potatoes

Arkansas growers can best produce the uniform, medium-sized sweet potatoes by setting slips at the average time, rather than extremely early, or extremely late, according to information just received from P. T. Ecton, Extension Horticulturist, University of Arkansas College of Agriculture.

"Jumbos" and "Strings," which are not wanted by the market, have long been a puzzle to sweet potato growers, but research work has shown that something can be done to solve the vexing problem.

Many growers, Mr. Ecton said, have thought that chunky sweet potatoes produced chunky tubers, and that stringy tubers reproduced in the hill. However, this has not proved to be the case, as any grower can tell at digging time.

About 131, it was noticed that the sweet potatoes from the early set slips were very chunky, and the late set vine cuttings produced many stringy tubers. Further investigation, the horticulturist said, has shown that vine cuttings reproduced in the hill. However, this has not proved to be the case, as any grower can tell at digging time.

Spots On Peaches
A few mud brown spots about the size of a nickel are beginning to appear on some Arkansas peaches, and should be a warning to those orchard owners. It is an early appearance of brown rot, the worst of peach diseases from a shipping standpoint, as it results in complete destruction of the fruit.
Fruit that shows no signs of infection which being loaded may be covered with spots the size of a quarter while being re-cel. By the time the fruit reaches market in 2 to 3 days, the fruit is soft and can rarely be re-graded.

One of the best preventives before picking is the use of an 8-8-30 line sulphur spray or a similar substitute about a month before the fruit ripens to prevent infection by the disease spores blown from nearby blighted twigs or blossoms. Rainy or humid weather especially favors the development of brown rot, according to P. T. Ecton, Extension Horticulturist, University of Arkansas College of Agriculture.

Electric Appliances

The purchase of electrical equipment of some kind is on the budget for many farm families in Hempstead county. So many conveniences are available when the electric switch is turned on in farm homes, that it is a difficult problem to decide just what equipment to buy first.

At present there are 148 rural homes and 21 rural business places wired with electricity.
Equipment which will increase the farm income should probably come in for first consideration, Mrs. Ida A. Featon, extension economist in home management, University of Arkansas College of Agriculture, advises.

Refrigeration may permit one to sell sweet cream or a better quality of butter or properly chilled poultry for market. A water system will save much drudgery but may also release time for other duties, while the electric pump lifts the water. An irrigation system for the garden will be a dollar stretcher. Running water is the greatest labor saver on the farm and a pump and water system should be considered among the first essentials, Mrs. Featon declares.

A washing machine and an electric iron should be considered, as one can perform household tasks while the machine washes. If butter is a source of income, then an electric churn should be placed near the head of the list. A grill is a worthwhile piece of equipment for preparing a light meal hurriedly. One can cook bacon, chops, or steak, fry potatoes, boil vegetables, cook eggs, make toast, or cook any food one can cook on top of a stove. Two foods may be prepared at a time; that is, one can boil a vegetable and toast chops at the same time. A coffee percolator or a toaster can only make coffee or toast, while a grill can do both of these and many other things, she points out.

Turkey Disease
Turkey producers in Hempstead county have found that blackhead, the most destructive disease affecting the birds, is easier to prevent than it is to cure.

The germs which cause blackhead enter the body through the digestive tract in contaminated soil, food, or water. The heaviest losses occur when the poults are six weeks of age. Adult turkeys and chickens harbor the blackhead organism and are constant sources of contamination.

Numerous treatments for blackhead have been tried and recommended, but none of them have proven entirely satisfactory, according to S. A. Moore, extension poultryman, University of Arkansas College of Agriculture. It is best controlled by isolating sick birds, burning those that die and removing the remainder of the flock to clean range.

Preventive measures are usually cheaper and more successful than treatments, Mr. Moore points out. Turkeys should be raised where they will have no contact with adult turkeys or chickens. Artificial incubation and brooding offer the best means of preventing the disease. Clean rugs is a necessary part of the program to avoid blackhead, and it is wise to plan in advance for the brooding ground. Soil that has been under cultivation for two years, during which time all domestic birds have been excluded, may be regarded as clean range, the poultryman advises.

Farm Meeting Is Held Sweet Home

H. H. Huskey Appeals for Stronger Farm Bureau Organization

Twenty-five local Farm Bureau members attended the monthly meeting of the Sweet Home local farm bureau Monday night. The meeting was presided over by Clifford Huskey, local club president, and Mrs. J. W. Bostick, local secretary of Sweet Home.

H. H. Huskey, Hempstead County Farm Bureau president, discussed the need for strong farm organization and encouraged more regular attendance at the Farm Bureau locals.

Clifford L. Smith, county agent, gave figures showing the need for a livestock program in Hempstead county and stressed the fact that a larger acreage should be devoted to permanent pastures with a greater number of trench silos being constructed.

Mr. Clifford Huskey, the local president, led a discussion on "How the Present Farm Program Could Be Amended to Better Fit the Needs of Farmers in Hempstead County." The following points were recommended by the group:

1. Get cotton allotments out by January 1st of each year.
2. That the percentage factor for determining cotton allotments should be based on cultivated acreage for

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Colocid—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks pink.
A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25c. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

the year in which the program is in effect.
3. That there should be no administrative areas within any county.
4. That the Farm Bureau Executive Committee should make a study of the domestic cotton allotment program.

Sailors Must Dance to Another Tune

GDYNIA, Poland.—(AP)—Polish sailors have protested against paying the usual government license fee for operation of private radios in their cabins aboard ship.

When they are in the Polish seaport here they claim they do not use their sets because they spend their leisure time on shore, and when they are at sea they are unable to tune in Polish programs.

Representatives of the government-controlled Polish radio company would not accept this explanation from sailors aboard the "Batory" and confiscated a dozen radio sets, fining the owners.

The "Batory" is a Polish liner plying between Gdynia and New York.
